Philosophy of the Cool

for Craig Harris

There is a love poem here searching to say more than can be said on any page

It is a love song wanting to sing waiting to be heard hoping to be found yearning to be closer than skin to skin than air to breath than mind to soul

It is a heartfelt ... heart felt heart- felt
poem, flies through the atmosphere invisible and sincere a drumbeat and mountain flute sweet sweet music in your ear the quintessential kiss ...

It was always here
It will never leave you
It is much more than these words can describe

In the long list of important worldly things there is a great giving soul lifting tender caring poem that is here right now

This is all that matters

All you need to know is: You are the poem You are this great love poem here.

© 1998 Sandra María Esteves,
Printed in Contrapunto in the Open Field